Former Ambassador Charles L. Glazer Endorses Chris Meek

STAMFORD, Conn. – Charles L. Glazer, the former United States Ambassador to El Salvador, has endorsed Chris Meek for Congress. In addition to serving as an ambassador from 2007 until 2009, Ambassador Glazer has been an extremely active member of the community.

“I am proud to endorse Chris Meek for U.S. Congress,” said Ambassador Glazer, who lives in Greenwich. “Chris has the private sector experience, an understanding of our complex economy and he is not afraid to work hard to find solutions. Our government is in real trouble and we need leaders like Chris who will put American jobs and small business first.” Meek welcomes the support of the ambassador, who joins a growing list of prominent people endorsing his campaign.

“I’m honored to have Ambassador Glazer’s support,” Meek said. “This brings us another step closer to defeating our opponent in November. I consider Ambassador Glazer a good friend and I am honored to have his endorsement.”

Glazer’s endorsement joins a growing list of prominent people supporting Chris Meek in his bid to become the 4th District’s congressman. Already endorsing Meek are former Lieutenant Governor Mike Fedele, State Representative Terrie Wood (R-141) and State Representative Livvy Floren (R-149).
